2. Profit & Loss Distribution

Trading profit is summarized daily after 8PM on stock market open day.
The time to review the prior business day's trading result is 7:00 AM EST.

Distribution of profit:
20% allocated to "loss reserve". Then,
40% of the profit for the investor
60% that of the trader.

AI assisted trading software tends to increase the profit level very high.
Our investors are entitled to receive the minimum return on investment for each package which has been described in detail at Investment Package Table v5.
This table is part of the legal prospectus.

You can review it by clicking on "Home" of the top navigating menu.
The last item in the dropdown menu is iptv5pdf.pdt. By clicking on it, the file will be opened for your perusal and download, if you want!

The minimum investment is P10 package, which is $100,000.
However, for those investors who may prefer the higher rate of return on their investment, attractive alternatives are offered in the name of packages. For the detail please see "Investment Package Table v5" table below:
But the highlight of this great investment values has been summarized here below:

How much minimum return of profit per year will each investor receive?
P10 $100,000 investment 40%

The rest of the rate of returns on the clients' investment will be observed in accordance with 'Investment Package Table v5.

Investors' annual minimum ROI in dollars!
P10 $40,000

In case of loss recovery for the investors at the end of each month, for instance of P10, any loss including the amount of less than 0.0333% of the start fund of each prior month, will be added back to the sum of the month start fund of the investor, in 'per diem per 20 trading days' method, using the loss reserve.

"per diem" is applicable to the case when the investor joined the Fund in less than 20 trading days or when the investor withdraws his investment before the completion of 20 trading days.

In the case of P10, CBO Fund regards any profit amount less than 0.0333% per month as pivot to loss.

Once the investors read all the details of the Fund and understand fully the detail ramification of the Fund operation, the maximum rate of the profit return is dependent on the imagination and the analysis of the investors on the Fund profit potential.

For the detailed guide in your research on maximum profit potential, please peruse Max Profit.

For the understanding of such profit source, please review Profit and Loss source.

Policy on Profit Share

1. The profit share is based om Investment Package Table v5".
The minimum return on the investors' money is like the following:

Investors' annual minimum ROI is assured to each investor like:
P10 $100,000 investment 40% $40,000

2. For new investor joining the fund during intra month

When an investor joins the fund during a month (intra month) before the first of the new month, his fund will get minimum profit amount per Investment Package Table for each day from the date his fund begins to be used in trading to the last day of the first month.
Ex. 3 days before the first of the new month were when a new investor joined the Fund.
For the instance of P10, his minimum profit share be $167/day x 3 = $501. Because $167 x 20 is $3,334.00.
However, suppose if the sum of the trading profit share for his 3 days were $1,257, then, that amount is his profit share.

Such calculation is performed at the monthly fund status reporting, and the result will appear at the Daily Fund Status Report from the first of the new month. The daily minimum profit share is applicable to all the investors.

3. For existing investors

Loss Reserve system protects the investors' fund

Banks and insurance firms use the system called loss reserve for their business protection. CBO Trading does so, too, to protect the wealth of our investors.

No trading loss will affect the investors' fund. Instead, the loss reserve will be tapped. Loss Reserve and LCS with AI software will prevent CBO Trading from common traders' loss, and they will also protect the wealth fund of the investors.

Loss Reserve System Management

1. The receipt of the loss reserve amount is 20% from daily trading profit.
2. The amount of maintenance level is 20% of the total amount of the Fund.
3. Any Loss Reserve Amount in excess of the maintenance level be disbursed to CBO account for any business expenses.
4. The conditions when the loss reserve is less than the amount of maintenance level:
4.1 When the loss reserve has been disbursed to cover the amount of any daily loss.
4.2 When new investors join until their fund profit contributes the profit to the level of 20% of their fund total.

EX. Today the profit is $3,000. Loss Reserve will be increased by $600, 20% of daily profit.
Assuming the total Fund is $100,000, the amount of Loss Reserve maintenance is $20,000.
This is the amount which will be tapped (decreased) by any daily loss. That is when Case 4.1 is applicable.
When a new investor joins with his investment amount, $100,000, on that day, the amount of Loss Reserve maintenance will be less than $6,000.
Based on $120,000 total Fund (before he joins, the Fund were $100,000),
Loss Reserve be still $20,000 when it should be $26,000, until his fund contribute from the daily profit to the level of $6,000.
Case 4.2 is applicable here.

This allocation of 20% of daily profit sum to the loss reserve amount has been taken into account in the computation of the rate of investors' fund growth rate. How?
In other words, the takeout of loss reserve does not affect the stated profit rate in Investment Package Table.

The daily routine of computing profit share is that the first amount of profit to take out is loss reserve amount, 20% of daily profit. The remaining balance is divided like 40% for the investors and 60% for the trader. For instance, if the day's profit were $1,000, then, first $200 is set aside for the loss reserve. Then, the remaining balance, $800, is divided into $320 (= 40% of $800) for the investors and $480 (= 60% of $800) for the trader.

Stock market is very capricious, and volatile. CBO Trading tries to protect our investors from any anxiety and wealth diminishment, using the Loss Reserve support. How?

Loss Reserve - How they protect investors?

If the daily trading results end with losses, the investor's fund will not suffer the loss. Instead, loss reserve will be tapped monthly.
Therefore, the daily fund status report will show loss during such period, until on the month end, the system applies Loss Reserve to the account of loss.

Please remember that the Fund treats any profit less than the stated profit aim in the Investment Package Table will be treated as loss.

For example, see the Investment Package Table for details.

Our goal is to succeed in the endeavor to increase the happiness and wealth of the investors.
